

European Tele-Plateaus – Transnational Sites of Encounter and Co-Production

With the CYNETart Festival in 2008 the Trans-Media-Akademie Hellerau (TMA) together with their partners from Madrid, Norrköping and Prague launched the project »European Tele-Plateaus – Transnational Sites of Encounter and Co-Production«. This network of virtual environments is based on the conceptual and practical activities that the TMA has been pursuing for many years and will be supported by the European Union through the year 2010. The project aims at creating publicly accessible virtual sites of sound and vision. By providing a virtual environment these spaces allow sensory-physical interactions over long distances in realtime. The visitors' physical activities are linked and embedded in a trans-local virtual environment. Thus, so-called hyper-sites emerge which integrate various locally significant visual and sound processes via the internet. The concept of Tele-Plateaus intends to encourage interdisciplinary and intercultural ways of thinking and working as well as new forms of cross-border communication and co-operation.

The project »European Tele-Plateaus« is organised by the TMA Hellerau in co-operation with the Hellerau – European Center for the Arts and is jointly produced with CIANT Prague (Czech Republic), REVERSO Madrid (Spain), and BitNet Norrköping (Sweden).

The realisation of »European Tele-Plateaus« is supported by the European Commission's »Culture« programme (2007–2013).
